Overview

A long history, ancient culture and customs, and coastal scenery are interwoven on France's northern coast, along the border between Normandy and Brittany—and highlight a bucolic itinerary of walking, dining, and exploring. Over a thousand years of history have unfolded along these sandy beaches, pebbled coves, and dramatic cliffs—from Romans to Vikings to their descendants, the Normans, whose name derived from these conquering “Norsemen” who arrived on Normandy's shores in the 9th century. Meeting in Rouen's historic center, you follow in the steps of Impressionist painters to the coast of the English Channel, and walk along the D-Day beaches of World War II. Iconic Mont St. Michel is one of your first views on a path along Brittany's rocky shore, overlooking protected islands for migratory birds. Circling back to Normandy, the tour concludes in Bayeux with a visit to the famous Bayeux Tapestry, a depiction of the events leading up to the Norman conquest of England. Normandy's lush pastures produce some of France's best-known cheeses, such as Camembert, but the region is equally known for its apples, cider, and Calvados liqueur. Meals include fresh seafood as well as sweet and savory crêpes, galettes, and apple tarte tatin (cake). Sophisticated and comfortable, three hotels showcase each locale and include a converted 16th-century townhouse, a harbor or sea-side hotel, and an original 1920s mansion perched above the Atlantic with views of Mont St. Michel.

DAY 1

Transfer from Rouen to the Honfleur area. Apreval to Honfleur; 3-4 miles, easy to moderate Gathering in Rouen's historic center, you meet your guides and set off for the picturesque port of Honfleur, driving along the Routes des Fruits—as its name implies, a region brimming with orchards. Upon reaching Jumièges, you drive onto a small car ferry crossing the River Seine, and continue through the countryside to the lovely Manoir d'Apreval, a family-owned estate surrounded by an abundant apple orchard, specializing in cider and Calvados liqueur, and cultivating a total of 17 varieties of apples. At harvest time, a restored press is used to make cider, which eventually also becomes Calvados after ageing in oak barrels.

After a tour of the estate and a buffet lunch, you embark on your first walk, which begins at the Manoir d'Apreval through the small village of Pennedepie, entering the Bois du Breuil, a nature reserve. Here you walk along a forest trail with views down to the Seine Estuary on your left. This route also involves walking along country lanes and through oak forest, and you are frequently surrounded by apple trees. About one mile from Honfleur, you reach the charming Notre Dame de Grâce Chapel, a pilgrimage site for local fishermen, with ceilings and walls adorned with message plaques from sailors and their families. You begin your descent into Honfleur, marveling at the broad views that extend over the River Seine as it flows out to sea, and the magnificent Normandy Bridge, which links Honfleur with the port of Le Havre. Many of these views were depicted by late 19th-century painters, such as Monet and Gustave Courbet.

As you walk down the lovely streets of Honfleur, passing typical slate-shingled houses, you reach your enchanting hotel in the center of town. Later, dinner is in a charming local bistro, where the food reflects the fertile countryside and nearby coast. Monks in Normandy began developing its famous cheeses as early as the 11th century, and dinner may conclude with a rich Pont l'Évêque, Livarot, or, the best known, Camembert.

Les Maisons de Léa, Honfleur

A charming hotel in the heart of Honfleur composed of a restored salt warehouse and three 16th-century houses, with individually decorated rooms, and a hammam (steam room).

DAY 2

Cliffs of Étretat; 4 miles, easy to moderate

After awakening in the comfort of your historic hotel and enjoying a copious breakfast with fresh fruit and homemade baked goods and jams, your first stop is a small neighborhood store just around the corner from the hotel specializing in local, organic produce and regional delicacies. Here you assist the guide in choosing the contents of today's picnic lunch—perhaps crusty fresh breads, tempting cheeses, and local cider. You then drive through the beautiful countryside of Pays de Caux, to the start of the day's walk along a trail that gently descends through an oak forest, and then into an open landscape of low bushes and gorse. Here you have your first glimpse of “La Manche”—the English Channel—and also begin to get your first views of the towering cliffs and rock formations of Étretat, a favorite subject of the Impressionist painter Monet.

You walk along the trail that takes you on the top of the cliffs and towards the famous Manneporte rock arch, the Porte d'Aval, and the Aiguille or "needle." The 19th-century French author Guy de Maupassant spent a good part of his childhood in the small fishing and resort town of Étretat. Here you rest and enjoy your hand-picked picnic lunch before returning on the cliffside path next to the oldest golf course in France.

Upon reaching your hotel, you have time to relax, perhaps even indulge in a spa treatment or hammam on site before a dinner on your own in Honfleur. There are plenty of restaurants to choose from ranging from gourmet meals to a local crêperie.

Les Maisons de Léa, Honfleur

DAY 3

Arromanches to cliff top; 1 mile, easy. Omaha Beach Walk; 1.5 miles, easy

As the day's main focus is visiting the D-Day beaches and the American Military Cemetery, there is minimal walking. You first drive to a view over Arromanches, a resort town with a sandy beach but no natural harbor, which became one of the world's busiest ports in June 1944. It was here that Winston Churchill's idea of using prefabricated floating ports was implemented in order to store supplies and ammunition for the Battle of Normandy, until the existing ports could be liberated from the Germans. You walk along a very short, grassy trail overlooking the remains of the artificial harbor, which was originally over five miles long, stretching from Tracy-sur-Mer to Asnelles-sur-Mer. After transferring in your private van to the town of Arromanches, you walk along a short stretch of beach up to the cliffs on the west side of the town as your guide begins the discussion of the D-Day landings. Once at the top of the cliffs, you board your van once again and arrive at the site of the German bunkers and original guns situated on the 200-foot-high cliffs that were used to defend the coast against the Allied Navy. These guns were designed to hit targets over 15 miles away, Omaha Beach among them.

After lunch in a local restaurant, you walk along the sands of Omaha Beach to the American Military Cemetery, where 9,387 American soldiers are buried, each marked with a white cross or Star of David—the first American World War II cemetery on European soil. Your guide provides context about the battle, explaining why the casualties along Omaha Beach were far worse than at other locations along the D-Day beaches, here where Allied soldiers ran inland toward the German positions on the nearby ridge.

After an extremely moving visit to the American Military Cemetery, you then transfer to the remote Cotentin Peninsula, which traces its name to the 4th-century Roman Emperor Constantius Chlorus, an enchanting area with unspoiled stretches of rocky coastline, sheltering tranquil bays, and quaint villages. You are warmly welcomed in your charming seaside hotel in the town of Barneville-Carteret, two coastal resort towns separated by a river estuary, with the British island of Jersey just off the coast.

Hôtel de la Marine, Barneville-Carteret

An intimate family-run hotel on the water in the small harbor town of Barneville-Carteret provides views of the English Channel and Cape Carteret. Individually decorated guestrooms are plush, with contemporary furnishings and fabrics. A polished wood salon-bar overlooks the harbor beside its Michelin-starred dining room, while the water's edge patio evokes the style of a 1930s cruise ship.

DAY 4

La Hague Coastal Trail; 5 miles, easy to moderate

This morning you wake to the sound of seabirds and the smell of the salty air. The hotel's harbor-side location permits a stroll on your own before breakfast. Today, a short drive brings you to La Hague, meaning "high cape" in French, the Cotentin Peninsula's westernmost point. This area of Normandy is a picturesque place with granite cliffs, small coves, and green fields. Setting off on a bracing walk along a coastal trail lined with wildflowers, you are graced with views of the British isle of Alderney, the closest Channel Island to the French coast. After a picnic lunch of local cured meats, cheeses, breads, and pastries, you continue walking and soon arrive to the small harbor of Goury, where the seas have some of the strongest currents in Europe. Built in 1834, the Phare de Goury, Goury's lighthouse, signals this local one which is called the Raz Blanchel. This evening you dine in the charming port town of Barneville-Carteret.

Hôtel de la Marine, Barneville-Carteret

DAY 5

Le Bec d'Andaine to Tomberlaine Island to Le Bec d'Andaine; 6 miles, easy to moderate

The itinerary today takes you from Normandy into Brittany, starting with a drive to the Baie du Mont St. Michel, known for its extreme tides. ***Please note that today's walk is tide dependent and thus the start time can vary greatly.

Depending on the lunar pull, the difference between low and high tide can be as much as 50 feet—the third largest tide in the world.*** A short stop en route provides a panoramic view of the bay and the pyramid-shaped island monastery of Mont St. Michel, before you arrive at Le Bec d'Andaine and meet your official local guide, who, because of the tides, is required to accompany you over the bay. You step through sand dunes, in the springtime, full of beautiful orchids. With broad views over salt marshes, you gradually cross the three rivers of the bay: the Selune, the See, and the Couesnon; the latter is the official border between Normandy and Brittany. The goal of the first part of the walk is Tomberlaine Island, a protected sanctuary for nesting shell ducks, marine and brown seagulls, and white egrets. From here there are great views of Mont St. Michel, and you may see a group of pilgrims walking along the sands, holding large wooden crosses.

After a simple picnic lunch and on completing the walk, you drive over the border into Brittany (although you have already been in Brittany once on foot today). Your lovely hotel overlooks Cancale Bay, with spectacular views of Mont St. Michel. Dinner tonight at the hotel is a true gastronomic experience—the hotel's chef is the celebrated Olivier Roellinger, one of only a few French chefs to have earned three Michelin stars. Using all local and in-season produce, Olivier is also known for meticulously incorporating spices from all over the world in his stellar cuisine. The wood-paneled dining room is both casual and elegant, reflecting your hosts' passion for good food and hospitality. Dinner may start with oysters, either plain or some delicately seasoned, and followed by a main course of lamb that grazed in the nearby salt meadows, or scallop “brochettes” simply seasoned with virgin olive oil and mild chili pepper.

Château Richeux, Saint Méloir des Ondes

This Relais & Châteaux property is a luxurious 1920s villa with antique and original furnishings, directly overlooking the water with views of Mont St. Michel. Experience beautiful guestrooms, warm and elegant common rooms, and a renowned restaurant featuring the cuisine of a three-star Michelin chef.

DAY 6

Guided walk of Mont St. Michel; 2-3 miles, easy to moderate

Today you explore Mont St. Michel, one of the most impressive constructions of the Middle Ages—a quintessential image of northern France and also a UNESCO World Heritage site. Your transfer takes you across a causeway to a small island just a half mile off the coast, where your guide leads you through the narrow back streets, winding your way to the top of the mount at the door of the Benedictine Abbey, dating from the 8th century. The majority of the buildings here were built, however, in the 11th century, with the church's main façade dating from the 12th century. You learn about the lives of medieval monks and village life, with a particular emphasis on the island's extraordinarily preserved architecture.

Later you gather for a sumptuous home meal where you toast your exploration of France's enchanting northern coast. Your private chef chooses the freshest selection of the day, perhaps starting with hors d'oeuvres of delicate Normandy cheese or fresh seafood from the Cotentin Peninsula.

Château Richeux, Saint Méloir des Ondes

DAY 7

Bayeux Tapestry visit. Departure

After another delicious breakfast, you transfer to the charming town of Bayeux arriving mid-morning. A settlement since the 1st century B.C., Bayeux has remained an important town in the Normandy region and was virtually untouched during the Battle of Normandy. Here, you visit the fabulous Bayeux Tapestry, which was probably commissioned in the 1070s and commemorated the 1066 Norman conquest of England. The tapestry shows, scene by scene, the story of William the Conqueror and Harold, Earl of Wessex, the men who led the Norman and Saxon armies in 1066. William's defeat of Harold at the Battle of Hastings ensured the success of the Norman invasion of England. Surprisingly, this priceless treasure is not a true tapestry, but rather a 230-foot-long embroidered cloth.

Strolling through the charming streets of Bayeux, you enjoy lunch at a local restaurant, a final taste of the bounty of this enchanting region. After lunch, a short transfer to the Bayeux train station is provided where you embark on your onward travels.

With the addition of time and oak barrel storage, Pommeau and Calvados are equally celebrated.

ACTIVITY LEVEL

This tour is one of our Guided Walking Adventures, rated easy to moderate, with an average of 3 to 5 miles per day. Walks are along grassy trails, atop cliffs overlooking the sea, and over sand dunes. The terrain is smooth with few rocks or roots to negotiate, although there could be mud in some places after rain. Please note that the walk in the Bay of Mont St. Michel is on tidal flats and entails wading across a few narrow channels of water (maximum of 100 feet in width), therefore you are required to walk barefoot and to wear shorts (the water will be no higher than mid-thigh). On this day, we recommend sport sandals (such as Tevas or something similar) to wear before and after the walk. Please note that the mileage when visiting the D-Day beaches and American Cemetery is minimal as the main focus is hearing about the history of that event. The itinerary presents a mixture of lovely seaside and rural landscapes, as well as birdlife, and focuses on the landing beaches of World War II and their accompanying history, the Viking and Norse invasions of the 9th century, medieval architecture and history, and the traditional customs and food of both Normandy and Brittany.

In France's northern tier, the rich butter- and cream-based classics originated—and the creamy cow's milk cheeses of Normandy such as camembert. Fresh seafood, especially oysters, is served in Brittany. In the Alps, hearty mountain fare includes cheese fondue and grilled raclette cheese over steamed potatoes. The cuisine of southern France is quintessentially Mediterranean, with olive oil, herbs, fresh vegetables, and goat cheeses. Common to all regions, of course, are crusty breads, buttery croissants, and exquisite desserts, from fine pastries to rustic fruit tarts.

A meal in France—lunch or dinner—typically consists of three courses, starting with an entrée (appetizer), followed by a plat principal (main dish), and finishing with a dessert or cheese plate. First brought to Narbonne in the south by the Romans, the wines of France mirror the variation and excellence of its cuisine. Menus feature a region's local wines, as well as those from other regions. For example, In Provence, red Rhône or rosé wines pair perfectly with the cuisine. In Normandy and Brittany, local hard cider is served with crepes and Calvados, apple brandy, as an after-dinner digestif.

Trains

SNCF: sncf.com/en, France's national train company

Rail Europe: raileurope.com or 800.622.8600: a U.S.-based company that provides schedules, reservations, and ticketing for all European train networks (their multi-day/-week/-month passes in one country or combinations of countries may be an economical and convenient choice for European train travel.).

Travel Tip

Be aware that you have to validate your train ticket by "punching" it before boarding, using a small machine located on the way to the train platform, which stamps the time and date on it.

Other local transportation

Direct flights from the U.S. are only available to Paris, Nice, and Lyon, but reaching any destination is easy thanks to France's excellent rail network. Regional bus lines and internal flights (which are never more than 1½ hours) are also widely available. For information on French airports, visit www.aeroport.fr (in French only). Taxis are available at all major airports, train stations, and in smaller towns, and can be reserved in advance (your hotel can usually provide assistance). FRENCH WINE AT A GLANCE

Each wine of France has a particular grape varietal linked to its terroir—the combination of local climate and soil conditions. Here is an overview of France’s main wine-producing regions: Alsace, Bordeaux, Burgundy, Champagne, Loire, Provence, and the Rhône Valley.

Region	Grape	Notes
Alsace	Gewürztraminer, Pinot blanc, Pinot gris, and Riesling	Tall, narrow flûte -shaped bottles contain some of the world’s driest Rieslings that pair nicely with seafood, spicy cuisines, and cheeses.
Bordeaux	Cabernet sauvignon, Cabernet franc, and Merlot	Balanced dry reds accompany meat and cheeses, and dry whites with seafood.
Burgundy	Reds are Pinot noir and whites are Chardonnay	Un-oaked white (Chablis) pairs with seafood and poultry, and reds with classic beef dishes.
Champagne	Pinot noir, Chardonnay, Pinot meunier	Champagne’s scale of sweetness from less to more is: Brut Natural or Brut Zero, Extra Brut, and Brut. Delicious as an aperitif and with raw oysters, it’s best served between 45 and 48° F in a flûte , of course!
Loire	Reds: Cabernet franc Whites: Sauvignon blanc, Chenin blanc, Melon de Bourgogne	To accompany seafood, look for whites from Sancerre, Vouvray, and Pouilly-Fumé.
Provence	Reds: Mourvèdre, Grenache, Cinsault, with Cabernet sauvignon and Syrah growing, and Carignan decreasing; White: Grenache blanc, Marsanne, Viognier, Chardonnay	Reds can accompany roasts and grilled dishes. Chilled rosé pairs well with the garlic-based dishes of the region.
Rhône Valley	Grenache, Syrah, and Viognier	Classic red wines, such as the southern Rhône’s Châteauneuf-du-Pape, pair well with grilled dishes, cheese, and fruit.

PACKING TIPS

Pack light! Keep in mind there will be times you may have to carry your own luggage short distances, especially before and after your Country Walkers tour. Due to space constraints, we require you to limit your luggage to one medium piece (approximately 18x15x29 inches or 8,000 cu. in.) and one small carry-on, per person. We recommend packing any personal necessities, medications, your hotel itinerary/emergency contact information, your hiking boots (or shoes), and extra clothes in your carry-on luggage in the event that your baggage is delayed. We suggest leaving valuable jewelry at home. A copy of your passport or other important documents should be kept in a separate area of your luggage. Always be alert when carrying a purse, camera, money belt, or backpack in busy cities, airports, and train stations.

FOOTWEAR

- » Waterproof hiking boots or shoes. There are many brands to choose from. Proper fit is crucial, so try on new boots or shoes while wearing socks you plan to use on tour. Be sure to break in new footwear well before your tour begins. By the time you're ready to join your walking tour, you should be able to complete 4 to 6 miles of walking without discomfort. We require lightweight boots or shoes with proper ankle support and good tread to ensure stability on all types of terrain. Waterproof footwear keeps feet dry in heavy rain and water resistant footwear keeps feet dry in heavy dew. Country Walkers reserves the right to deny participation to any guest not wearing appropriate footwear.
- » Synthetic, moisture-wicking socks (cotton socks are not recommended for walking as they will quickly cause blisters)

- » Woolly or fleece hat and gloves to keep warm if there is inclement weather on the Bay of Mont St. Michel walk
- » Warm fleece jacket
- » Quick dry shorts which are necessary for the Bay of Mont St. Michel walk
