Travel Style

Our Self-Guided Walking Adventures are ideal for travelers with an independent spirit who enjoy exploring at their own pace. We provide authentic accommodations, luggage transfers, and some meals, along with comprehensive Route Notes, detailed maps, and 24-hour emergency assistance. This gives you the freedom to focus on the things that matter to you—no group, no guide, and no set schedule to stand in the way of enjoying your adventure, your way.

Overview

This self-guided walking tour showcases the best of the southwest of Ireland—County Cork and County Kerry. The lakes and mountains of County Cork are a scenic beginning, along the shores and forest paths of Gougane Barra Lake. You continue on to Bantry Bay and Killarney, and the Killarney National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage site on the Ring of Kerry, the route that circles the Iveragh peninsula with its sweeping views and long beaches. You reach the coast in lively Dingle, rich in Irish traditions and history—from dozens of pubs where you can find music nightly, to Iron Age forts and stones, and early Christian sites on sweeping headlands overlooking the Atlantic. A contemporary Irish welcome greets you on your walks and in luxurious town- and country-house hotels and by the fireside at fine restaurants with the freshest local cuisine.

Daily Itinerary

DAY 1

Arrival in Cork. Transfer to Gougane Barra. Optional walk: Gougane Barra Forest Park; 2.5 miles, easy

From your arrival point, you are met and transferred to the small hamlet of Gougane Barra in western Cork, a wonderfully pristine part of Ireland, and to your lakeside family-run hotel overlooking St. Finbarr's Oratory on a small island. Surrounded by heather-clad mountains, the lake is a beautiful and peaceful place, and there is a lovely walk available to stretch your legs.

Gougane Barra Hotel, Gougane Barra

On the shores of tranquil Lake Gougane Barra, this traditional three-star hotel, in the same family for five generations, is adjacent to a national forest park with a large network of trails. Comfortable modern rooms in warm colors have either lake or mountain views. Available for guests' use are boats and bicycles, also several cozy sitting rooms, and a bar. An excellent restaurant serves updated traditional fare. The stone remains of a 7th-century monastery are on an island in the middle of the lake.

DAY 2

Gougane Barra Forest Park; 6 miles, easy to moderate

Awakening to lakeside tranquility and a full Irish breakfast, today you explore the Gougane Barra Forest Park, which offers a range of trails of varying distances and degrees of difficulty, each one with a specific theme that best showcases the spectacular panoramas of mountain, valley, stream, and lake. Developed as a forest park in the early 1960s and officially opened in 1966, the Gougane Barra valley and lake owe their dramatic geology to glacial origins. The Forest Park of over 350 acres was planted in the late 1930s over what was once farmland. Now you walk amidst impressive stands of lodgepole pine, Sitka spruce, and light green Japanese larch. Finbarr, the founder of Cork, established a monastery here in the 6th century as well as a hermitage on the small island in Gougane Barra Lake (Lough an Ghugain), which can be reached by a short causeway.

Gougane Barra Hotel, Gougane Barra

DAY 3

The Sheep's Head Way; 6.6 miles, moderate, 500-ft. elevation gain

Today, stroll along a section of the Sheep's Head Way, a long distance trail over 93 miles (150 km) in length, which passes along the coast of the Sheep's Head Peninsula and throughout the general Bantry area. Walking here, you'll discover a peaceful, unspoiled peninsula which has some of the most beautiful scenery in all of Ireland—low, rugged hills and cliffs that feel wonderfully remote, despite being no more than a few hundred meters from roads at any point. After a short taxi transfer from your hotel, the route starts at a pass along the spine of the peninsula and follows a stretch of this ridgeline, with extensive panoramas of the Atlantic. The Caha Mountains and the Beara peninsula are clearly visible across Bantry Bay to the north and to the south the more sheltered Dunmanus Bay, with its pretty villages nestled along the shore. At the end of your walk, you arrive at Bantry House, a stately 18th-century mansion set in formal gardens on the southern shore of Bantry Bay. It was the seat of the Earls of Bantry and has extensive gardens, as well as a very pleasant café, on the grounds. Admission here is included on your tour. Your final destination of the day is just a few miles away in the quiet coastal village of Ballylickey.

Seaview House Hotel, Ballylickey

Owner-manager Kathleen O'Sullivan has been welcoming guests for over 30 years to this elegant Victorian manor house. Set in manicured grounds and stunning subtropical gardens overlooking Bantry Bay, this four-star property is renowned for its gracious hospitality and attention to detail—a warm and inviting staff always happy to chat, fresh flowers, attractive antiques, sumptuous fabrics, and furnishings with personality. In the award-winning restaurant—set with polished mahogany tables and crisp linen—service is friendly and informal while the menu features superb cuisine based on local produce, complemented by a well-stocked wine cellar.

DAY 4

Derrycunihy Church to Killarney; 7 miles or 9 miles, easy to moderate, 1,000-ft. elevation gain

Today begins with a transfer (approximately one hour) over Moll's Gap, with the famous Ladies' View over the Killarney Lakes, and to the start of your walk at Derrycunihy Church on Galway's Bridge. The route takes you through the Killarney National Park, the home of the only natural herd of red deer in Britain or Ireland. You continue through the mountains to the Torc Waterfall and on to Muckross House and Abbey, where Queen Victoria paid a visit to the Herbert family in 1861. Today, many of the rooms in this magnificent mansion have been restored to their original Victorian splendor, and between the months of April and July, the mature rhododendrons of Muckross Gardens are in spectacular bloom. Adjacent to the house are Muckross Traditional Farms, which portray the farming methods and way of life of a typical rural community of the 1930s. The workshops, shops, and restaurant here are all worth exploring. From here you transfer to your accommodation for the next two nights in Killarney.

Cahernane House Hotel, Killarney

The former estate of the Earls of Pembroke, this hotel was built in 1877 amidst tranquility and lush greenery on the doorstep of Killarney National Park and a 15-minute walk from the center of town. The country manor's deluxe rooms and inviting common areas are decorated in Victorian style. The property also boasts an award-winning restaurant as well as bistro-style dining in the old wine cellar.

Layover day in Killarney

At your doorstep are a plethora of options in and around the town of Killarney, from a range of walks, to castle touring, town strolling and shopping, bike riding or pony trekking. Perhaps one of the best-known natural sites is the Gap of Dunloe, a narrow mountain pass between Macgillycuddy's Reeks and Purple Mountain. About seven miles in length, from north to south, within it are five lakes—Coosaun Lough, Black Lake, Cushnavally Lake, Auger Lake, and Black Lough,—all connected by the River Loe. Connecting the first two lakes is the Wishing Bridge, so-called because it is said that wishes made while upon it are destined to come true. Nearby is Ross Castle, standing on the shore of Lough Leane. The original home of the O'Donoghue Ross Chieftains in the 15th century, the castle has been magnificently restored. The site holds evidence of human habitation going back 9,000 years, with one of Europe's earliest Bronze Age copper mines dating back some 4,500 years. One walking option here is a 90-minute route around the archaeological sites of Ross Island. You can also walk into the vibrant and charming town center of Killarney, with its long tradition of late-evening shopping, and the tall-spired St. Mary's Cathedral, as well as a Gothic Franciscan church.

Cahernane House Hotel, Killarney

DAY 6

The Dingle Way: Ventry to Dunquin; 6.5–8 miles, easy to moderate, 650-ft. elevation gain

This morning's destination is the Dingle Peninsula, just over an hour's drive away. A first short stop is at the fabulous Inch Beach, made famous in David Lean's 1970 film, "Ryan's Daughter." The drive takes you past Dingle (though you'll have plenty of time upon your return to explore the town and surroundings) and on to Ventry Beach, where you begin the day's walk. The route starts out along the beach before rising slightly to skirt the base of Mount Eagle. Here spectacular views open up over the Blasket Islands and the Atlantic Ocean as you pass beside Neolithic beehive stone huts. The walk ends at the excellent Blasket Islands visitor center, which provides an informative overview. You soon return to Dingle, perhaps for a pint of Guinness at one of the town's 52 pubs, before walking to dinner at a restaurant of your choosing.

Benners Hotel, Dingle

In the heart of the town of Dingle, this luxurious, family-run town hotel is a local landmark. Spacious guestrooms blend traditional antique-style furniture with elegant comforts. The bar and common rooms are richly decorated with antique furnishings and have fireplaces. Bustling Dingle's many restaurants, shops, harbor, and walking routes are all easily reached on foot.

DAY 7

Layover day in Dingle

The town of Dingle invites exploration—with its colorful houses, lively fishing port (and resident dolphin, Funghi), pubs and restaurants, inviting shops, and livestock market. Nearby are local walks, as well as boating options. A vibrant town of only 2,000 residents, it is a flourishing tourist, fishing, and agricultural center. Boat trips from Dingle include whale-watching excursions and deep-sea fishing. As a market and fishing town, its numerous pubs not only provide delicious food and drink, but some also specialize in selling items from Wellington boots to sheets, blankets, and fertilizer! The town is a center for traditional music, and you can listen to it in the pubs in the evening, and by day perhaps visit the Dingle Record Shop on Green Street, or the Dingle Music School, dedicated to making Irish music as accessible as possible. Pottery is another local craft.

Benners Hotel, Dingle

DAY 8

Departure from Tralee

After breakfast, a complimentary transfer from Dingle to Tralee is provided (60–90 minutes) to make your train or bus connections.
